

BSBI Photo Competition 2021

Kindly sponsored by:

#BSBIPhotoCompetition

BSBI Photo Competition 2021

Two simple categories:

Native Plants: 81 entries from 48 photographers

Alien Plants: 37 entries from 23 photographers

(Entrants were allowed to submit up to two images in each category)

The winning images were selected by a popular vote of Scottish Botanists' Conference participants

Saw-wort (Serratula tinctoria), meadow by Clay Jones

Native Plants category winner:
Moss Champion (Silene acaulis), Ross by Olesya Smart

Winners of the Alien Plants Category...

Seaside Daisy (Erigeron glaucus), Portland
by Liz Downey

AND

Pitcherplant (Sarracenia purpurea), Rannoch Moor
by Roy Sexton

BSBI Photo Competition 2022

Why don't you try entering the 2022 competition?

Prizes are book tokens kindly donated by Summerfield Books

Three simple main rules:

1. Free to enter and open to all amateur photographers – whether BSBI members or not.
2. Photographs must be taken in Britain or Ireland but not necessarily in the competition year. So, images could be from back-catalogues.
3. Photographs should be of any native or alien flowering plant, conifer, fern, horsetail, club-moss or stonewort growing in the wild (i.e. not a garden).

Full Competition Rules

BSBI Photo Competition 2022

Four simple categories in 2022:

Plants in winter, spring, summer and autumn
- a maximum of one entry per category.

View this years' and all previous years' BSBI Photo Competition images on BSBI Flickr

Greater Stitchwort (Stellaria holostea), Cornwall by Lucia Chmurova